

-ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

a1 A shelf for holding articles, especially in refrigeration units. The shelf includes at least one supporting plate embodied by at least one panel made of glass or possibly a plastic material, and at least one corner piece which is preferably made of a plastic material and which covers only one corner of the plate. Such a structure provides a shelf which is especially economical.--